

e: info@connectingmemories.org
f: <https://www.facebook.com/connectingmemories>
w: <http://www.connectingmemories.org/>

CONNECTING MEMORIES

Keynote Lecture:

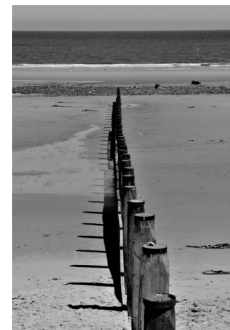

‘Past Imperfect: A Memoir That Is Ongoing.’

Dr Anne Whitehead

Newcastle University

Friday, 1st March 2019 at 6pm

Project Room (1.06), 50 George Square, Edinburgh

Dr Whitehead's research has explored various aspects of modern and contemporary literature, including memory and trauma studies, theories of affect, literatures of conflict and the medical humanities.

Connecting Memories is a collaborative interdisciplinary research initiative opening up a space for previously unconnected scholars working on memory to interact, to share their perspectives and reflections on what memory means in the context of their research.

For more information and for updates, please visit our website: <http://www.connectingmemories.org/>

You can also follow us on Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/connectingmemories>

Feel free to get in touch by email: info@connectingmemories.org