

CONNECTING MEMORIES

---

Keynote Lecture:

‘How to Survive a Tyrant. Lessons from Literary Criticism.’

---

Dr Zoë Roth
Durham University

Friday, 6th December 2019 at 5pm
Venue TBC
Edinburgh

The ruins of the Warsaw ghetto. Photo by Israel Gutman

---

Dr Roth's research largely focuses on two things: bodies and Jews. She has published on French and francophone literature and visual culture, Jewish studies, and the Holocaust.

---

Connecting Memories is a collaborative interdisciplinary research initiative opening up a space for previously unconnected scholars working on memory to interact and share their perspectives on what memory means in the context of their research.

For more information and for updates, please visit our website: <http://www.connectingmemories.org/>
You can also follow us on Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/connectingmemories>
Feel free to get in touch by email: info@connectingmemories.org